

Course Reporting Climate Change – Microcredentials for International Journalists

Assignment title

Student choose the topic from the offered topics

Each student has to choose different one from the offered topics and based on the submission date and hour which is Friday, 23.08.2021 at 7 p.m. (time of Rome/GMT+2, please check your local time) on the email: sabahudin.hadzialic@uninettunouniversity.net. Professor/Tutor will assign chosen topic to each journalist.

Essay No.2. encircles lessons No.1., to No. 5 within the Part 2 “Reporting Climate change” from colleague Prof. Kevin Burden and the received WWW link for the course from UNINETTUNO University

Assignment type Essay No.2.

Word limit – up to 1000 words – 2 pages

Journalist intake - submission of Essay No.2.until 23.08.2021

Feedback date from professor/tutor– 3-4 days upon submission of essay. If you submit it earlier than the deadline, even better.

Issued by Professor/Tutor

Academician of IANUBIH, Prof. Dr& Dr. Honoris Causa Sabahudin Hadžialić, Faculty of Communication, UNINETTUNO University

Internal verifier

Professor/Tutor

Academician of IANUBIH, Prof. Dr& Dr. Honoris Causa Sabahudin Hadžialić, Faculty of Communication, UNINETTUNO University

Plagiarism

When submitting work for assessment, students should be aware of the Uninettuno University guidance and regulations concerning plagiarism. All submissions should be your own, original work.

You must submit an electronic copy, in pdf. and/or MS WORD of your work.

APA Style referencing system

The APA style, as written, in simple, here, should be used, for citation/quotation: <https://www.citationmachine.net/apa/cite-a-book>

Written Report

Journalists & Academics will need to deliver an essay of up to 1000 word.

Journalists & Academics may include appendices/references if necessary, which will be outside of the word count.

GUIDANCE ON ASSESSMENT

Length required is advised above.

Longer work will not be penalized.

However, it should be noted that a concise and professional style which is well focused and clear in the points being made will gain good credit and appreciation.

Originality, quality of argument and good structure are required.

Your submissions will be expected to demonstrate the following qualities:

1. Answering the central focus of the assignment open question.
2. A critical appreciation of relevant literature and its use to support argument, substantiate model(s) and other aspects of the assignment.
3. Taking ownership of the content, being prepared to debate and argue a personal position, evidences evaluative skills.
4. Logical flow of ideas and treatment; imaginative approaches; appropriate selection of real world factors related to the model(s) or specific assignment topic.
5. Evidence of additional personal experience, if any, and the ability to analyse material from a variety of appropriate relevant perspectives. A clear listing of references and/or bibliography, if any.
6. Presentation, structure, appropriateness of methodology, breaking into section headings/subheadings, tidiness.
7. A strong conclusion.